Twenty-five went to Philadelphia and these boys are now going to Kansas City.

The party is in charge of J. H. Johnson, of the New York Journal, and Professors W. P. Jackson and Thomas E. Kirlin, of the Greater New York high schools. They will arrive at Kansas City July 2 and will be met at the station by a delegation of twenty-five school boys.

OPENING OF THE NEW SUB-STATION

IT IS IN CHARGE OF JOHN HENRY PHILLIPS.

There Are Six Carriers at the Station and from It All the Mail Matter for West Scranton Will Be Distributed.—The Station Is Located on Jackson Street, Close to Main Avenue, and Is Very Central. Fight Made by Board of Trade for Station.

After six years, lacking one month, of incessant labors, the West Scranton board of trade, assisted by Hon. William Connell, congressman from this district, have secured the location of a branch postoffice in West Scranton. The new office was opened yesterday morning and is located on Jackson street, just above Main avenue. No ceremonies were conducted in conjunction with the opening of the office. The general delivery window was open from 9 until 10 o'clock. The carriers will make their first delivery this morning.

John Henry Phillips is superintendent of the station. William Albright, one of the clerks in the central city office, is his assistant. Six carriers have been transferred to the new station.

JOHN HENRY PHILLIPS, Superintendent of the West Scranton Sub-Station.

They are Walter McNichols, Thomas Jones, William Cannon, W. D. Morgan and Thomas Williams. A slight change will be made in several of the routes, giving the residents a much better service.

The building in which the new station is situated has been completely renovated. The work has received a new coat of paint and the walls re-papered. Regular postal racks and other necessary supplies have been placed in position. In the front are a large number of private boxes, which it is expected, will be rented by the business men. There are also two windows, one general delivery, the other for money orders. A desk has been erected for the use of the public, in case they should desire to direct a postal or fill out a money order, which is the right side of the building, in Wyms' place, is an entrance for the carriers. On the front windows are the words, "Sub-Station, No. 1."

The members of the board of trade are elated over the establishment of an office on this side, and are also very thankful to Mr. Connell for his hearty co-operation in their behalf. The fight for the location of an office in West Scranton started nearly six years ago, during the administration of President Cleveland. Attorney C. E. Daniels, now president of the board, then its secretary, at a meeting held in August of 1894, introduced a petition praying for the establishment of an office in West Scranton. The name of every member of the board was affixed to the paper, and it was dispatched to the Postmaster General, Boston. It is supposed that the petition found its way to the waste basket, as nothing was ever heard from it. This, however, did not discourage Mr. Daniels or the other members of the board.

CROWNED WITH SUCCESS.

About one year ago, Mr. Daniels, having been elected president of the board, again agitated the idea, which at last became a reality. President Daniels appointed Fellows Mason, D. E. Evans and Jenkin Reese a committee on the establishment of a sub-station in West Scranton. The committee at once started to work and drew up a petition, sending one to Postmaster General Charles Emory Smith and the other to Congressman Connell.

They received a reply from the post-office department to the effect that they would give it a money order. On January 1, in January of the present year, Inspector Gorman met a delegation of the business men of this side at the club house of the Electric City Wheelmen and there talked the matter over. At the conclusion of the meeting, Mr. Gorman assured them that he would report favorably the plans.

A short time afterwards, through the untiring efforts of Mr. Connell, word was received from Washington, D. C., that a sub-station would be erected. Bids were sent in for the location of a site and the building of Mrs. Jones selected. The residents of West Scranton are happy over its establishment, knowing that it means a better service.

"I WAS A SUFFERER FROM female weakness. Every month regularly as the menses came, I suffered dreadful pains in uterus, ovaries were affected and had leucorrhoea. I had my children very fast and it left me very weak. A year ago I was taken with flooding and almost died. The doctor even gave me up and wonders how I ever lived."

"I wrote for Mrs. Pinkham's advice at Lynn, Mass., and took her medicine and began to get well. I took several bottles of the Compound and used the Sanative Wash, and can truly say that I am cured. You would hardly know me. I am feeling and looking so well. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made me what I am."—MRS. J. F. STRECHT, 461 MECHANIC ST., CAMDEN, N. J.

How Mrs. Brown Was Helped.

"I must tell you that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done more for me than any doctor. I was troubled with irregular menstruation. Last summer I began the use of your Vegetable Compound, and after taking two bottles, I have been regular every month since. I recommend your medicine to all."—MRS. MAGGIE A. BROWN, WEST Pk. THE SUPPORTING POWER.

Topic of Rev. O. R. Beardsley's Sermon in the All Souls' Universalist Church Last Night.

Rev. O. R. Beardsley, of the All Souls' Universalist church, last night chose as his theme, "The Supporting Power," and gave a thoughtful sermon upon the subject. He first declared that while the world is in a state of anarchy, still it is not of the same value as faith. "Abraham's covenant with the Lord," said he, "with the results of great benefit to all of his descendants, was not a promise made by the Lord, but a covenant of faith, the righteousness of faith. Faith without works, however, is of no avail. Abraham's faith centered in the welfare of his fellow men. Faith is the substance of the things hoped for, the substance of the things not seen. It comes from the reading of the things of the future or of the things which we have not seen."

"Many men have faith but do not show it. But it is the men who have studied the life of Jesus Christ on earth, who try to model themselves after his pattern, who have striven to do the will of the Father, who are able to really have faith, and who daily show the grand results of it."

"Faith is shown in works. As the Lord said, 'They who act well, from no wish of favors, of such is the kingdom of heaven. They are in error, who seek happiness, looking forward to it only in the future. They should make the present happy and comfortable and then they will truly enjoy their lives. The passenger sitting in a car with his ticket secure in his pocket can look forward to the terminal point of his journey, and be contented, while the wretched wanderer stealing a ride on the rear platform. The farmer with fields of growing grain, can in a more pleasant prospective view the future than he whose fields lie fallow.'"

"And as regards faith in punishment, I may compare man to a tree. Imagine, if a tree, which is being pruned, could feel the cutting sensation, and should say, 'Why do you thus inspire me?' you would answer that it was for its own good, not for the purposes of hurting it. And in the same way the Lord prunes His faithful fruit, with which the boughs are laden, it would thank you for having pruned and so benefited it. In that sense I have faith in punishment, when all things will bear the fruits of righteousness."

FAREWELL SERMON OF REV. DR. PIERCE

DELIVERED PRIOR TO HIS DEPARTURE FOR EUROPE.

The Cup of Blessing—The Topic That He Discussed—Strength of Life, He Said, Is Not in Our Surroundings, But in Character. Learn to Put Your Soul in Harmony with the Divine Spirit and Heaven Will Take Care of Itself.

Before leaving for an extended trip abroad, this summer, Rev. R. F. Y. Pierce, of the Penn Avenue Baptist church of this city, preached his farewell sermon yesterday morning before a large number of his parishioners. He chose as his text I Cor., 10:14, with emphasis upon the words, "The cup of blessing."

He said that strength of life was not in our surroundings, in proficiency in art, music or learning, not in positions, wealth and power greater than that of other men, but in character, developed by communion with God. Character is what we are in our noblest and most spiritual moments. Even though we be a Homer or Shakespeare and have not "the cup of blessing," we are devoid of the strength of life.

Then he spoke of David's eagerness to put himself in harmony with the divine spirit; how Jesus taught it when he said, "Blessed are the pure in heart," and how a man without this strength may be compared to the musician and his "lost chord"—swallowing long, troubled years for that grand "amen" which he had struck, but lost.

He here touchingly compared the loving mother's tender sympathy in times of trouble to the angel of God coming to the bedside of the sick, and laying her hand upon our throbbing brows, comforting us by imparting that strength which comes from communion with God.

Although sin has robbed man of this blessing, he will never be happy until it is regained, or he can come to say with hope as did the musician, "Perhaps I may find it in my eternal home."

"But this blessing we are all seeking," he continued, "will never be found in this world or in the many learned philosophers, except through the earnest longing of the soul for communion with God. The Bible is not filled with heavenly blessings. No, it tingles with joys and blessings for this life. See what it says: Mark each passage which is a guide for this life and you will find every page marked. Learn to live now—to put your soul in rapport with the divine spirit, and heaven will take care of itself."

No announcements have been made as to the pulpits supply for August, but during the month of July the various pulpits of the city will fill with the Rev. W. J. Ford, of Green Ridge, preaching next Sunday.

During the pastor's absence, Deacon W. H. Tripp will serve as president of the board of deacons, and Dr. L. M. Gates as moderator of the church.

TRIED TO ASSAULT CHILDREN.

H. Crossley Taken Into Custody by Chief Robbing.

H. Crossley was arrested and taken to the central police station by Chief Police Robbing at 9:30 o'clock last night, on the charge of attempting to criminally assault two little girls, ten years of age, the daughters of Mr. Marsh and Mr. Hine, of Adams avenue.

The two little girls met Crossley last night, while walking on Washington avenue, near the Erie and Wyoming Valley railway station. He induced them to go in the rear of the station with him, saying he wanted to talk to them. As soon as they were in the rear, he attempted to take hold of them in an outrageous manner. The two girls at last managed to break away from him and ran to their homes, where they informed their parents.

Mr. Marsh and Mrs. Hine then visited the home of Chief of Police Robbing, on Gibson street, and stated the case to the chief. The latter then went to Crossley's home at Erie and Wyoming Valley railway station, and took him to the central police station. Mayor Moir will give him a hearing this morning.

THE SECOND RECITAL.

Pupils of the Southworth Studios Entertained.

The second of the recitals of the pupils of the Southworth Studios of Music was conducted on Saturday evening in Powell's music room. A large audience was present, and was enabled to enjoy a excellent programme much better than on the first night, on account of the delightful coolness of the weather.

The majority of the numbers were given by the piano pupils. Solos on the pianoforte were rendered by Miss Lolla Woodruff, Miss Stella Price, Miss Kathie Cullen, Miss Clara Barrett, Miss Anna Rice, Miss Clara Rice, Miss Annie Robinson, Miss Trystine Marris, Miss Elizabeth Palmer, Miss Minnie Samter, Miss Augusta Polhemus, Miss Carrie Clifford, Miss Florence Kline and Norwood Pitcher. Vocal numbers were contributed by Miss Jessie Polhemus and Mrs. G. B. Uthman.

This evening the third and final recital will be conducted in Guernsey hall.

Change of Time.

The Central Hudson Steamboat company have changed the time of their departure as follows: Leave New York, Franklin street, at 8:50 a. m.; leave New York, Recreation Pier, West One Hundred and Twenty-ninth street, at 10 a. m. This gives them ample time to make connection with the Ontario and Western "Mountain Express," No. 3, at Cornwall, for all stations north to Sileby. Already this route has become well patronized, and there is no doubt but what it will become very popular with summer tourists.
